ACCEPT ELECTRONIC PAYMENTS AT NO COST WITH ACI SERVICE FEE PAYMENTSTM

Organizations are increasingly moving away from paying transaction fees. Part of ACI's UP[®] Bill PaymentTM solutions, ACI Service Fee PaymentsTM lets you offer electronic payments — and accept both card and ACH payments — without incurring transaction costs.

It's simple. Since consumers don't mind paying a service fee for convenience, why continue inflating your costs? ACI charges a service fee for payment, which covers all direct transaction costs. We manage the merchant processor relationships and consolidate all funds and data into a single file and deposit. Funds are delivered on the next business day after the payment is accepted.

MARKET CHALLENGE

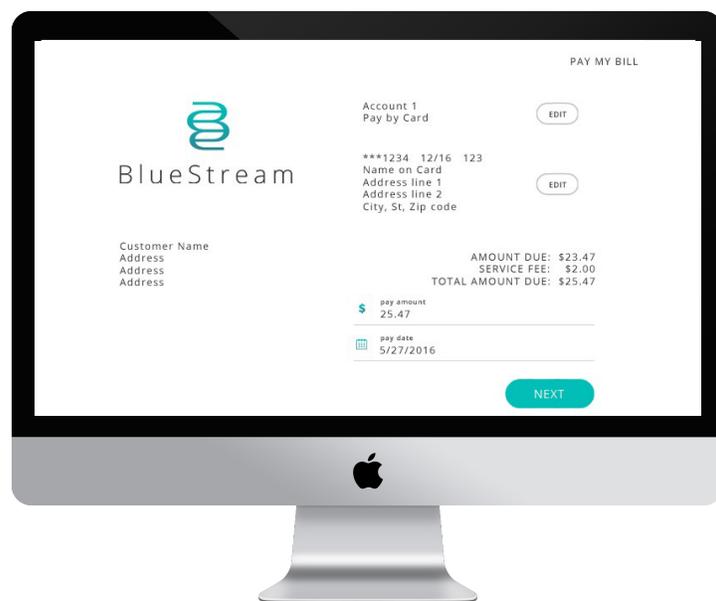

Organizations will spend billions of dollars to accept credit and debit card bill payments this year. Yet, thousands of other organizations will accept card payments at no cost by hiring a third party to charge consumers a service fee for paying. Twenty-seven million households willingly pay a fee for convenient bill paying services to help them avoid much larger fees when payment is late. For example, Americans pay an average of a $14 service fee for a mortgage payment to avoid a $39 late fee.¹

MINIMIZE RISKS AND END PROCESSOR RELATIONSHIPS

- Let ACI manage the card processor relationship, including invoices, chargebacks, reporting and all other aspects of the biller/processor relationship
- Maintain compliance with payment industry rules and regulations
- Enjoy peace of mind knowing ACI is fully PCI-compliant with state-of-the-art security

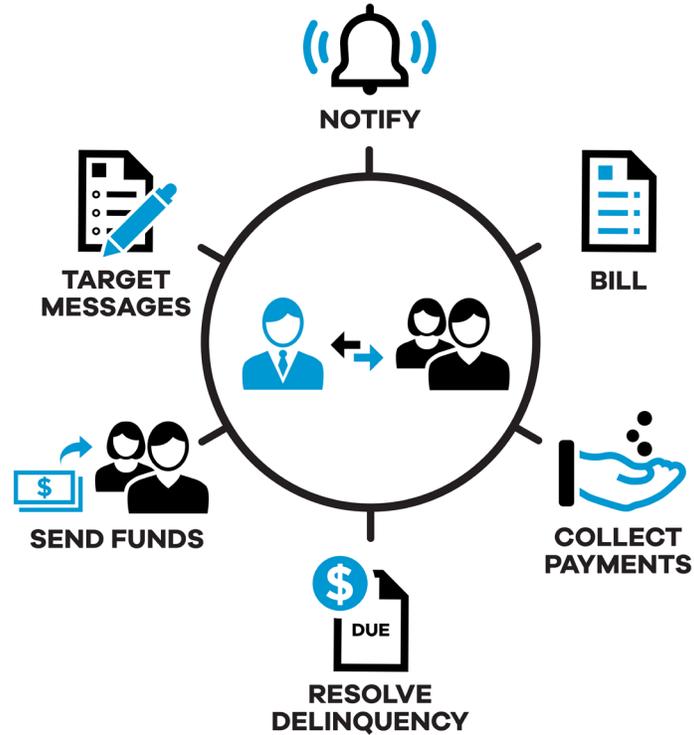

BOOST CONSUMER SATISFACTION AND BUILD YOUR BRAND

- Give consumers the ultimate in choice and convenience
- Co-brand the user interface to provide consumers with familiarity
- Offer anytime, anywhere, anyway payments
