THE MARKET CHALLENGE

Worldwide, eCommerce is worth more than $1.5 trillion per year and is growing rapidly. Successful international expansion requires understanding and offering not just the right payment methods and acquiring options for each market, but also the ability to configure them quickly and efficiently. While new markets offer new opportunities, they also pose new country-specific payment profiles, fraud risks, regulatory frameworks and other challenges which payment providers and merchants need to navigate to achieve their expansion goals.

THE PAY.ON PAYMENTS GATEWAY

The PAY.ON Payments Gateway supports both local and cross-border payments quickly and securely across all channels and geographies. The gateway makes it simple to choose the right local partner and the preferred payments set-up with the right risk profile in each individual country. All this is available through one single integration point — providing increased speed to market and instant capability to support an extensive array of payment options.

TEACHING GLOBAL MARKETS

Our payments gateway is built upon open payments technology and can rapidly adapt to any market and any business need, anywhere in the world. This seamless solution for omni-channel transactions enables payments of any type through a single point of access.

The PAY.ON Payments Gateway and its international expansion capabilities enable payment providers to reach eCommerce markets in more than 160 countries worldwide. Multi-language, multi-currency, security and PCI-compliant tokenization capabilities are all also integrated and supported. This helps ensure that payment providers and merchants have access to everything they need to safely, securely and quickly expand their businesses and serve customers with a frictionless checkout experience wherever and however they shop.

SUPPORTING FAST, SECURE INTERNATIONAL EXPANSION
